

AMCHP Welcomes New Chief Executive Officer, Lori Tremmel Freeman

Jan. 23, 2014, Washington, DC – Today, the Association of Maternal & Child Health Programs (AMCHP) Board of Directors President Millie Jones released the following statement:

“On behalf of the AMCHP board, I am thrilled to announce that Lori Tremmel Freeman will be the next Chief Executive Officer of AMCHP. Lori brings the combination of skills and experience that AMCHP needs to move forward and seize the coming opportunities . We look forward to working in partnership with her to ensure that AMCHP remains the premiere organization representing state maternal and child health leaders and providing leadership to improve the health of all our nation's women, children and families.”

Ms. Freeman brings more than two decades of Washington experience and is a career association management professional. Her previous roles include executive leadership, governance, membership development, advocacy, and product sales and marketing. Much of her association work through the years has been with nonprofit associations focused on health, patient advocacy or science.

Most recently, Freeman served as the associate executive director for administration and advancement with the National Association of County and City Health Officials (NACCHO). While at NACCHO, she provided vision and leadership in engaging, serving, and advancing the interests of governmental local health departments (LHDs) and the public health community. By building strategic partnerships with LHDs and other key organizations, Freeman ensured that NACCHO was a relevant, responsive, member-driven, and fiscally sustainable organization.

Freeman expressed her enthusiasm regarding joining AMCHP as its CEO: "It is a real privilege to be chosen to serve as AMCHP's next Chief Executive Officer. The position represents a new, important chapter in my work with public health professionals. I am honored to lead an organization so valued in its work to improve the health and lives of mothers and children and their families."

Freeman received a Bachelor of Science degree in management sciences from Lock Haven University in Pennsylvania, and went on to complete a Masters degree in business administration with a marketing minor from Indiana University of Pennsylvania. She currently resides in Haymarket, VA with her husband, Dan, and twin children, Ariana and Tristan.

“The AMCHP selection committee and board are confident that Lori is the right leader to take AMCHP to the next level. We welcome her and look forward to her success and the continued success of AMCHP, ” said Jones. Freeman will join AMCHP on Mar. 17, 2014.

To see a full biography on Ms. Freeman, please click here.

###

The AMCHP mission is to support state maternal and child health programs and provide national leadership on issues affecting women and children. For more information, please contact Barbara Laur, at blaur@amchp.org or call (202) 775-0436.

