

Oct. 9, 2019

Register for AMCHP 2020!

Registration is open for AMCHP's 2020 Annual Conference — the perfect opportunity to connect and network with nearly 1,000 public health officials who share an interest in maternal and child health.

The theme for the conference – to be held March 21-24 in Crystal City, Va. – is The Power of Connections: Building Equity for Healthy Generations. Register by Feb. 21 to receive an early bird discount.

Here are just some of the many reasons to attend AMCHP 2020:

- Gain a firsthand opportunity to learn about changes occurring in the MCH field, such as federal and state policies and health systems transformation.
- Interested in learning more about a particular MCH subfield? Conference session topics will include ensuring equity in systems and services, building and strengthening partnerships, and practicing effective family and youth engagement. New this year: a track on mental/behavioral health.
- Visit the exhibit hall to gather information from resource centers and companies working on maternal and child health, while networking with current and future MCH leaders.
- Exchange best practices with other MCH professionals, creating stronger and bolder ideas for the future.

For additional information, please contact Samantha Freeman. We look forward to seeing you!

For more information and to register:
<https://www.eventscribe.com/2020/AMCHP>