Family Education — The program surveys all children with special needs when they turn 14 to help focus the youths’ and families’ attention on planning for the child’s transition into adult care. The program also distributes a quarterly newsletter to over 15,000 families with special needs.

Prenatal Care — Local health units provide prenatal care services, assist physicians with Medicaid enrollment and offer nutrition education.

Medical Services for Special Needs Children — The CSHCN program is managed by the Arkansas Department of Human Services Division of Developmental Disabilities Services- Children’s Medical Services section. The MCH program pays for direct medical services for over 600 children with special health care needs who do not receive Medicaid benefits. For eligible Medicaid recipients, it also pays for some services, like van lifts and wheelchair ramps for homes. By paying for these services, the program enables families to care for their children and youth at home, decreasing hospitalizations. The program also provides case management services for special needs families who request this assistance.
